Where the money goes

Paneer — ₹190

Make paneer at home from 2L full-cream milk (~₹130 for 400g), or swap one paneer night for soya chunk curry.

Ghee — ₹130

If there's already ghee at home, skip buying — oil works fine for tadka.

Sunday prep plan

- Make the tomato-cashew gravy base for PBM a day ahead — it deepens in flavour.
- Knead roti dough the night before — it keeps 2 days in an airtight box in the fridge.
- Make a big batch of onion-tomato masala base on Sunday — it's the starting point for most of your curries.
- Boil plain toor dal in bulk on Sunday — do a fresh 5-minute tadka the night you serve it.
- Boil potatoes on Sunday; they keep 3–4 days refrigerated and cut weeknight cooking in half.

- Chop cauliflower ahead and store it dry in a paper-towel-lined box — use within 3 days.
- Leftover pasta sauce doubles as a base for soya curry or a quick pizza-roti.
- Soak, squeeze and freeze the soya chunks on Sunday — drop them straight into the gravy.
